CAPT. SCOTT'S OWN ACCOUNT OF LAST DAYS MADE PUBLIC

Hitherto Unpublished Facts From Commander's Diary of Tragic South Pole Expedition, in Book Just Issued, Throw Light on Obscure Points.

POISON READY, BUT ALL "DIE IN TRACKS"

Party Depressed on Discovery of Amundsen's Triumph—Letter to Wife Says, "Take Comfort, I Die in Peace."

LONDON, Nov. 6.—"Capt. Scott's Last Expedition" is to be published today in two big, handsome volumes. It contains Scott's diary, written methodically day by day, from the departure of the Terra Nova in 1910 to the moment in March, 1912, when, with death actually in the tent pitched for the last time, the frozen waste of the Great Barrier, the dying Commander wrote:

"The end cannot be far. It seems a pity, but I do not think I can write more. For God's sake, look after our people."

Published in facsimile, the last lines, although they are pencilled by the hand of a man suffering physical agonies due to frozen feet and the resultant consequent of mortification, spreading upward and acute mental distress and almost at the actual point of death, are marked by masculine firmness and complete absence of tremor.

The second volume includes Dr. Atkinson's report giving the reasons why it was impossible to undertake the relief of Scott, but the bulk of the volume is devoted to the scientific achievements of the expedition.

Light on Obscure Points.

What follows here is, up to this time, unpublished and throws light on obscure points.

Scott, next to the blizzards and the phenomenon low temperatures on the barrier, ascribed the disaster mainly to the astonishing failure of the strongest man of the party, Petty Officer Evans, a physical giant. A study of the diaries shows the course and causes of the failure.

The first reference, Jan. 17, 1912, to Evans' frozen hands, says this complete premature camping. A week later Evans' nose was frozen and his fingers were badly blistered. Scott wrote: "He is a good deal run down. He is very much annoyed with himself, which is not a good sign."

On Jan. 25, 1912, "Evans dialogued two finger nails. His hands are really bad, and, to my surprise, he shows signs of losing heart over it. He has not been cheerful since the accident."

There are several subsequent similar entries. On Feb. 17 Scott writes: "A very terrible day. Evans looked a little better after a good sleep. He declared, as he always did, that he was quite well, and started in his place in the sleds, but half an hour later he worked his sled shoes across his head to leave the sleds. The surface was awfully soft, slightly fallen snow clogging the ski and runners at every step."

Collapse and Death of Evans.

"After we had stopped an hour Evans came up again, but very slowly. Half an hour later he dropped out again on the same place, and asked Bowers to lend him a piece of string. I cautioned him to come on as quickly as he could. He answered cheerfully, as I thought. We had to push on, and the remainder of us were forced to pull very hard and were sweating very heavily."

"Seeing Evans a long way astern we stopped for lunch. There was no alarm at first. Evans still not appearing. He was of his knees, his clothing disarranged, his hands uncovered and frost-bitten, a wild look in his eyes. I asked what was the matter. He replied with slow speech that he did not know; he thought he must have fainted."

"We got him to his feet, but after two or three steps he sank down again and showed every sign of complete collapse."

"Wilson, Bowers and I went for the sleds. Oates remained with him. When we returned he was practically unconscious. When we got him into the tent he was quite comatose and died quietly at 12:30 in the morning."

In a Desperate Pass.

"On discussing the symptoms we think began to get weaker just before we reached the Pole. The downward path was accelerated by the shock of the frost-bitten fingers, later by falling during the rough traveling on the glaciers, and further by the loss of confidence in himself. Wilson thinks it certain that he must have injured his brain by his fall."

"It is a terrible thing to lose a companion in this way, but calm reflection shows that there could not have been a better ending to the terrible anxiety of the last week. We were in a desperate pass with a sick man on our hands at such a distance from home."

Capt. Oates did not begin to fall until March 1, when he reluctantly admitted that his feet were frostbitten. On March

Phone Company Would Drop 'Hello'; Public Won't

New Bell Directory Repeats Advice That Such Phrases as "Hello," "Well?" and "What Is It?" Are Waste of Time.

Hello, telephone user. Why don't you quit saying, "Hello?"

The Bell Telephone Co., in its new directory, out Thursday, repeats the admonition which has been printed in each quarterly edition of the directory for nearly two years. And yet nearly everyone who uses a telephone continues to say, "hello."

Under the head of "Helpful Information," the directory publisher says the use of such phrases as "Hello," "Well?" and "What is it?" are a waste of time.

His suggestion is that when a subscriber is called to the telephone he should say, "This is John Smith." The person at the other end of the wire should say, "This is Bill Jinks." But he won't. He'll say, "Hello."

When a Post-Dispatch reporter telephoned the office of the National Telephone Directory Co. Thursday afternoon the answer was "Hello." This company publishes the classified list and advertising sections of the Bell Directory. The man who answered "Hello" said the telephone company alone was responsible for the page of instructions as to how to use the telephone.

When the directory department of the Bell Telephone Co. was called a young woman who answered "Bell" referred the questioner to the information department, where a young man answered "Hello." He said the admonition to eliminate the word "hello" had been running in the telephone directory some time, but he had no means of knowing whether it had had any effect on the telephone habits of the general public.

EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGED AGAINST A BANK CLERK

Warrant Issued in Case of Former Bookkeeper of the Mercantile National.

A warrant charging embezzlement has been issued in the United States Court against Leonard W. Woods, of 287A First street, former bookkeeper for the Mercantile National Bank. U. S. Marshal Regenhart, to whom the warrant was given for service, told Judge Dyer, Thursday, that he had notified Woods' family, and that the promise had been made to him that Woods would come to the Federal Court in the afternoon and give bond.

The warrant was issued on the complaint of Walter W. Smith, a national bank examiner, who examined Woods' books after he resigned from the Mercantile National Bank, Aug. 27. The embezzlement charged amounts to $230.

Examination of Books.

In a report made to United States District Attorney Louis Smith asserts that the examination of the books show that Woods, while bookkeeper for the Mercantile National Bank, opened savings accounts with the American Trust Co. and the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. In Woods' report to the credit checks drawn by a fictitious person on the bank in which he was employed.

When the checks were returned to the Mercantile Bank, the report says, Woods obtained possession of them and destroyed them. The report also says that Woods' books showed that he had cashed four checks drawn by a fictitious person on the bank in which he was employed.

The report asserts that four such checks were cashed between July 15, 1912, and Aug. 7, 1912, amounting to $230. Two were for $10 each, one was for $200 and the other was for $100, according to the report.

Alleged Loss Made Good.

Woods' successor was appointed Aug. 30, the report asserts, and a day or two later reported to the bank that Woods' books did not balance. The bank then asked the bank examiner to make an investigation.

When the amount of the alleged shortage was disclosed, Woods was sent for the report says, and at first denied wrongful action, and said that the difference must be due to a clerical error. He later admitted taking the amount charged, according to the report, and explained the method used, as set forth by Smith.

PUBLIC WILL OWN, U. S. CONTROL, NEW REGIONAL BANKS

Reed Votes Against Administration Senators, Forcing Currency Bill Amendment.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—The stock of the regional banks of the new currency system will be owned by the public and regional banks will be controlled by the government. The Senate Banking Committee today incorporated that feature in the administration currency bill by a vote of seven to five.

Senators Reed and Hitchcock, Democrats, joined the five Republicans voting for the resolution over the protests of Senators Owen, Fourness, Shafer, Hollis and O'Gorman. Jointly framed by Senators Reed, Hitchcock and Weeks, the resolution was regarded by some as the basis of a compromise between the administration and the opposition.

The provision in the House bill to compel national banks to subscribe 10 per cent of their cash to the new system under penalty of losing their charters had been eliminated.

If the public had not subscribed all the capital after 60 days, the banks entering the system would be required to take up the remaining stock. That was one of the proposals of the Vanderbilt plan.

Control of the regional banks was offered by a compromise resolution offered by Senator Weeks providing that each regional bank should have nine directors, five to be selected by the Government, Federal Reserve Board and four by the banks.

The action today is thought to have cleared the way for an agreement in the committee and may hasten progress of the bill.

President Wilson has been conducting informal conferences with Democratic Senators over the currency situation and many are urging a party conference, not necessarily in the sense of a caucus, but as a movement to make the Democratic party sponsors of the bill in the form the administration wants it shaped.

Say Delay Hurts Business.

Members of the committee are receiving intimations from their homes that the useless agitation over the currency bill is beginning to have bad effects upon business, and they are being urged to stop the discussion and report the bill.

Some of the Republican members of the committee have been impressed by these communications, and they are preparing to curtail, as much as possible, the discussion of the bill and the introduction of new propositions.

Prospects of the bill being reported this week have dimmed, and it is probable that the report will not be ready until Nov. 15, five days later than was anticipated.

Senator Reed of Missouri who has insisted further consideration of the bill in spite of President Wilson's pleas for immediate action, occupied most of yesterday's session with an explanation of a plan which strongly favors a central bank.

Proposal Made by Reed.

Senator Reed proposed that the Federal Reserve Board in Washington should be entrusted with one-third of one-half of a 12 per cent reserve of all banks which enter the system. The board should also control the Government money instead of having them placed in the reserve banks as proposed in the administration bill.

The Reed plan would result in an amazing between $300,000,000 and $400,000,000 in Washington in the hands of the members of the Reserve Board. The Senate argued that such a mobilization of reserves would be of the greatest value because the Board would then be able to control them for the benefit of the entire system.

WHOLE INDIANA MILITIA CALLED OUT IN CAR STRIKE

Gov. Ralston Summons 2000 Soldiers to Indianapolis on Citizens' Request.

CARS TIED UP A WEEK

Labor Unions Protest at Martial Law—Strikers Prepare to Meet Troops.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 6.—The entire militia of Indiana has been ordered out by Gov. Ralston because of the street car strike here. The Governor also announced he would "declare martial law." All the troops are expected here this afternoon. Street car traffic has been tied up since Friday.

The Governor said he regretted it had become necessary to call out troops, but the situation was critical and he would not delay longer.

"Men are being assaulted and killed," said he, "property is being destroyed and there is rioting in the streets which the city authorities have not controlled. I feel it is my duty to take this drastic action."

The Governor remained up all night with Brig. Gen. William J. McKee and other officers of the National Guard perfecting arrangements for transporting the militia companies to Indianapolis and their disposition when they reach the city. Whether the troops would be placed on the street cars, the Governor said, had not been determined. The Indiana National Guard numbers about 2000 men, including three battery companies.

The Governor's decision was reached after the conference yesterday with city officials, representatives of clubs and organized labor had failed to reach any agreement on a peaceable means of settling the strike. The rioting in the streets yesterday, when the street car company tried to run a car, which was asserted by the strikebreakers, gave the Governor additional reason for his action.

Strikers Meet on Capitol Lawn.

A mass meeting of strikers was held at noon on the State House lawn and was attended by a large crowd. Speeches were made by J. W. Shaffer, president of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees of America; Cal Wyatt, organizer of the American Federation of Labor; State Senator Henry Harmon; and several other speakers.

After the meeting, the strikers gathered in front of the State House and threatened to march on the capitol building.

At a large committee of citizens yesterday afternoon urged Gov. Ralston to call out the militia, preparations were made to bring the troops here as quickly as possible.

The four companies of infantry and a battery in Indianapolis will not be called out until other companies have arrived, so that there will be no question about controlling the situation after troops are once on the streets.

An effort to resume street car traffic yesterday resulted in the serious injury of seven persons and the wrecking of a car. Several thousand persons, many of them armed with bricks, surrounded the car and prevented progress, while a down-pour of missiles from the roofs and windows of buildings along the route threatened the lives of the strikebreakers and police.

Fearful Night of Lawlessness.

A committee from seven civic and commercial organizations presented a unanimous request to Gov. Ralston for troops, stating the organizations would share the responsibility for the action. The Governor intimated that his reason for not calling the troops last night was that they could not be mobilized before morning and he feared the announcement that the militia had been called out would result in a night of lawlessness.

The fourth death due to the strike was that of Thomas Carleton, who was shot in the riots Tuesday.

Labor leaders protested to Gov. Ralston against calling out the militia. John J. Keegan, member of the last Legislature and now holding a position in the State Auditor's office, told the Governor he would organize the strikers and meet the militia at the trains.

M. L. Clawson, a labor attorney, on behalf of the strikers, filed a written protest with the Governor against the State's interfering in the strike. The protest states that the police and sheriff have not exhausted their powers and that the State should not interfere until this is done.

Democrat Elected Mayor of Indianapolis by 5547.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 6.—The official count of the vote of Tuesday's mayoralty election show that Joseph E. Bell, (Dem.), received a plurality of 5547. His total was 29,780. Charles A. Bookwalter, Republican, was second with 14,320 and H. Johnson, Progressive, third with 14,228. C. H. Woods, leading the Citizens' ticket, received 2028 votes. The Socialist vote was 3296, while the Prohibition candidate received 338 and the Socialist Labor candidate 30.

MRS. NINA ATER BECOMES BRIDE OF D. R. FRANCIS JR.

Ceremony at Home of Mrs. Theodore Prewitt Quiet, Following to Recent Death.

THEY GO ON EASTERN TRIP

Bride Granddaughter of Ex-Mayor and Bridegroom Is Eldest Son of One.

David R. Francis Jr. and Mrs. Nina Robinson Ater, daughter of the late Dr. F. Gervais Robinson and widow of W. W. Ater Jr., were married at 10 a. m. Thursday at the home of Mrs. Theodore Prewitt, an old friend, in the Oxford Apartments, Waterman and Union avenues. Francis is 34 years old the bride is several years older. Mrs. Ater has been living at the Parkhurst Hotel.

Only members of the immediate families were present. The bride is in mourning because of the death of her father two months ago. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John W. Day of the Church of the Messiah in the presence of relatives.

Francis and his bride departed on a noon train for the East.

A prepared statement, authorized by the families and issued in advance of the ceremony, said that "the marriage has not been looked for by the families of the parties, but the announcement of the date will doubtless be a surprise to their friends."

The bride, whose first husband died in 1904, is a granddaughter of Bernard Pratt, who was Mayor of St. Louis from 1844 to 1846. Her mother was a widely known society beauty before her marriage to Dr. Robinson in the '70s. Dr. Robinson served with distinction as a surgeon-general in the Confederate Army, and was for many years eminent in his profession in St. Louis.

Francis is the eldest son of a more recent Mayor of St. Louis, and is a member of his father's brokerage firm. He is a director of the United Railways Co., a Yale graduate and a member of the St. Louis Country and Racquet clubs. He was married in 1901 to Miss Sally Thompson of Salem, Mass. They separated in 1911, and one year ago Mrs. Francis filed suit for divorce, charging desertion. Her decree was granted Dec. 28 last, and the alimony was fixed at $150 a month. The custody of the 10-year-old daughter, Frances, was divided between the parents, the mother to keep the child during the school year and the father in the summer.

KINGDON GOULD, ROUGHLY GARBED, HERE HALF HOUR

He Returns From Vacation in Ozarks, Dressed in Flannel Shirt and Knickerbockers.

Kingdon Gould, 26 years old, son of George J. Gould, the railroad magnate, was in St. Louis a short time Thursday morning on his way to his home at Lakewood, N. J., after a vacation in the Ozarks. Attaches at the station who had seen him on previous visits did not recognize him at first because he was roughly dressed in a gray flannel shirt, slouch hat and knickerbockers and had several days' growth of beard.

Gould told acquaintances he had given up athletic sports of which he was formerly very fond and was devoting all his time to business. He has been much interested in the past in baseball, golf and tennis.

Gould was in the city less than half an hour. His private car came in on the Iron Mountain train at 8 a. m. and departed over the Wabash for the East at 8:30.

MISS CLARK SELECTING WILSON WEDDING GIFT

Speaker's Daughter Undecided Between Silver Dishes and String of Pearls.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Miss Genevieve Clark, daughter of Speaker Champ Clark, is in New York this week to select on behalf of the House of Representatives the wedding gift of the House to Miss Jessie Wilson, daughter of the President. Miss Clark was not sure she would buy the present, but said she was "all going to see the best things the jewellers have to offer and then let the House decide if my selection is what they want."

Miss Clark said she was undecided whether to choose a string of pearls or a set of silver dishes. She said Republican Minority Leader Mann had told her he believed the majority of the House preferred the silver.

AUTOPSY INDICATES MAYOR'S NEPHEW WAS STRANGLER

Surgeons Think Earl Mathews of Collinsville Was Killed With a Rope.

Inquiry into the death of Earl Mathews, 26 years old, a car repairer, nephew of Mayor James G. Mathews of Collinsville, Ill., was reopened Thursday, when an autopsy gave rise to the belief that he was strangled.

A St. Clair County Coroner's jury Wednesday returned a verdict that Mathews' death was due to exposure.

Mathews started to his work in the Vandallia yards Sunday morning. He did not return home. Wednesday morning the two young men hunting rabbits found him dead at the edge of a field near the Lumaghi coal mine and three-quarters of a mile from the Vandallia yards.

As the body was found in St. Clair County Coroner Resner was called from Belleville to hold the inquest.

Five Surgeons at Autopsy.

They reported that they found evidence of strangulation and that in their opinion Mathews had been choked to death with a rope.

They said there was a red mark about his throat, that he had died at the same time and that his tongue was between his teeth—all signs of strangulation.

Mathews was a powerful man and it is believed that if he was murdered the work must have been done by more than one person.

A watch and two rings which he was known to have worn when he started to work are missing.

DAN O'REILLY, FORMER THAW LAWYER, IS DEAD

Prison Sentence Said to Have Hastened End of Ex-Assistant New York Prosecutor.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Daniel O'Reilly, lawyer and ex-prosecutor, died at his home today. He was 43 years old. He had been associated with the defense in several notable criminal cases, among them being the trials of Nan Patterson, Capt. Peter Hahn and Harry K. Thaw. More than a decade ago he was Assistant District Attorney of New York.

O'Reilly's death, his friends assert, was directly due to the prison sentence imposed on him for receiving $50,000 worth of bonds stolen from Aaron J. Bancroft, an aged broker, two and one-half years ago. For this he served a five months term at Blackwell's Island.

He was Evelyn Nesbit Thaw's attorney after quitting Thaw's legal staff.

HUERTA TO REJECT ALL THE DEMANDS MADE BY WILSON

Person Close to Him Says Dictator Will Seat New Congress, but Abide by Decision if It Declares the Recent Election Null.

Bryan and Bacon Confer With President—Many Congressmen Favor Lifting Embargo on Arms.

U. S. to Maintain Double Naval Strength in Mexican Waters—Carranza Expects Hale to Visit Him.

By Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 6.—The purposes of Gen. Huerta were voiced today by a person who is close to the Provisional President. The President is determined to reject all the demands set forth in the latest American communication and is resolved to seat the Congress just elected.

If Congress, however, should declare the recent presidential election null and void, arrangements for another election, Gen. Huerta would be disposed to abide by this decision and submit to the people's choice of a man to occupy the presidency until the autumn of 1913.

Nature of Memorandum.

There is no indication whether Provisional President Huerta would make a formal reply to the American communication made to him by the United States. The nature of the memorandum is said to call for no other reply than compliance. How long Washington expects to wait for this compliance is a question which he greatly interested in. The memorandum is said to be the work of the communication from the United States Government to the Provisional President.

Memorandum in Mexico City.

Mexico City itself is still ignorant of the nature of the new representations made by Washington to Gen. Huerta. The newspapers here have printed only denials of the reports from the United States until today, when the papers confirmed the reports in detail. The Herald, the only English daily newspaper, published a dispatch from Vera Cruz, stating that John Lind, the personal representative of President Wilson, had confirmed the reports of certain indications being made by Washington to Mexico.

Notwithstanding the necessary precautions surrounding the transmission of the Washington dispatch by Chase O'Shaughnessy, another has leaked out here to fill the city with rumors and endless speculation as to what Gen. Huerta's course of action will be.

WILSON SILENT ON HUERTA ATTITUDE

Talk of Lifting Embargo on Arms Is Revived in Congressional Circles.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—The news that President Wilson is still ignorant of the nature of the new representations made by Washington to Gen. Huerta, demand for his withdrawal was revived in official circles without comment. Secretary Bryan had a long conference with President Wilson and Chairman Bacon of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee was an early White House caller.

Talk of lifting the embargo on arms was revived in Congressional circles. Some Senators have told the President there was an overwhelming sentiment in Congress in favor of permitting exports of arms to Mexico.

Power to Lift Embargo.

The President, in his address to Congress last August, took a position against lifting the embargo. Many persons have pointed out to him, however, that one of the alternatives open, if Huerta declined to resign through the efforts of diplomacy, was to lend a moral support to the Constitutional movement. Constitutionalists here declare they do not wish recognition of their belligerency, but only wish to obtain arms on an equality with Huerta.

Although discretionary power to permit exports of munitions of war is vested with the President, some observers think it unlikely that he would take such a step without some communication with Congress. That phase of the situation has given rise to speculations that President Wilson might soon send another message to Congress, outlining the status of the negotiations with Mexico and making specific suggestions for future policy.

Officials declined to say whether they had received any answer to the latest demands.

Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, who recently has returned to this country, had an announcement to the President late today. Although the Ambassador meant to pay his respects, it was not improbable that the Mexican situation would be discussed. Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British Ambassador, also is expected to visit the President.

GERMANY TO SEND THREE WARSHIPS

Vessels Ordered to South American Waters, to Be Available for Mexican Service.

BERLIN, Nov. 6.—The newest German battleships, Kaiser and Koenig Albert, and the cruiser Stargard, have been ordered to leave early in December for South American waters.

The cruise is said to be merely a "test voyage," but the warships will be available for service on the Mexican coast if it should prove necessary.

German naval circles regard the South American cruise as patent evidence that Anglo-German tension is disappearing, as this is the first time German battleships have been detached from the North Sea fleet since the naval rivalry between Germany and Great Britain became acute.

"Be Prepared for Anything at Any Time"
MEXICO CITY, Nov. 6.—Foreign Minister Madero has raised a direct question of veracity, thereby agitating the diplomatic corps, by issuing an official denial that John Lind conferred with the German, Russian and Norwegian Ministers relative to the Mexican crisis when the diplomats were in Vera Cruz a few days ago.

Regardless of Madero's denial, the fact remains that the Ministers not only called on Lind, but spent several hours going over the situation with him. The conference ended with the impression prevailing among the conferees that they had reached a better understanding, as far as it bore on the co-operation of European Powers with the United States policy, than had before existed.

Lind is said to have indicated with unmistakable clearness that energetic and drastic steps would be taken immediately by the United States unless Huerta speedily evinced a more conciliatory attitude with respect to eliminating himself from Mexican politics. He told them to "be prepared for anything at any time."

Calero in Havana on His Way to the United States
HAVANA, Nov. 6.—Manuel Calero, the candidate of the Liberal party at the recent presidential elections in Mexico, arrived here on the steamer Corcovado. He is accompanied by his two daughters. He is on his way to the United States but says he will return to Mexico within a month.

Sontheis Donquex, a brother of Senator Briartorio Dominguez who made a speech in the Mexican Senate, attacking President Huerta, and later mysteriously disappeared, was a passenger on the Corcovado. Dominguez gave out a pamphlet entitled "Words From a Dead Man."

The pamphlet contains strong charges against Gen. Huerta.

CAPT. SCOTT HAD POISON TO END LIFE, BUT DID NOT USE IT

Tragic Story of Antarctic Expedition, Published for First Time, Gives New Facts.

Scott expresses the fear that Oates will not survive the increasing cold. On March 7 he writes:

"Poor Oates is unable to pull. He sits in the sleds when we are track-searching. He is wonderfully plucky as his feet must be giving great pain. He does not complain, but his spirits only come up in spurts. He now grows silent in the tent. The poor soldier has become a terrible misanthrope, though he does his utmost. One feels that for poor Oates the crisis is near."

Oates Has No Chance.

On March 15, Scott writes:

"Things are steadily going downhill. Oates' foot is worse. He has rare frost. He must know he can never get through. With great care we might have a dog's chance, but no more. The weather conditions are awful, and our gear gets steadily more icy and difficult to manage."

"At the same time poor Oates is the greatest hindrance and keeps us waiting in the morning until we have breakfast, when the only wise policy is to be up and away at once. Poor chap! It is too pathetic to watch him. One cannot but try to cheer him up."

On March 15 Scott writes:

"Oates is very near the end, one feels. What we or he will do, God only knows. We discussed the matter after breakfast. He is a brave fellow and understands the situation, but he practically asked for advice. Nothing could be said but to urge him to march as long as he could."

"One satisfactory result of the discussion was that I practically ordered Wilson to hand over to us the means of sending our troubles so that any one of us may know how to do so. Wilson had no choice between doing so and our ransacking his medicine case."

"We have 30 opium tablets apiece, and Wilson is left with a tube of morphine." This tragic decision was revoked, for in the last entry but one in the diary Scott writes:

"We must be near the end. I have decided it shall be natural. We shall march for the depot with or without our effects, and die in our tracks."

In a portion of Capt. Scott's diary before he published he said the following concerning the death of Oates:

"Capt. Oates was a brave soul. He slept through each night hoping that he would not wake, but he awoke in the morning. It was blowing a blizzard and Oates said, 'I am just going outside and may be gone some time.'"

"Then he went out into the blizzard and we have not seen him since. We knew he was walking to his death, but though we tried our best to dissuade him, we felt it was the act of a brave man and an English gentleman."

Last week's entry of the diary adds:

"Oates' last thoughts were of his mother, but immediately before leaving he took pride in thinking that his regiment would be pleased at the bold way he met his death. We all hope to meet the end in a similar spirit, and assuredly the end is not far."

A perusal of the diary leaves no doubt that the discovery of Capt. Amundsen's triumph depressed the entire party to such an extent that it must be reckoned as a part cause of the disaster. A typical entry is:

"The Norwegian devastated us. It is a terrible disappointment. I am very sorry for my loyal companions. We must have known that with all speed we can complete. All the day-dreams must go. It will be a wearisome return. Well, we must turn our back now on the goal of our ambition and must face our 500 miles of solid snow—no more adventures. I wonder if we can do it."

This is the first note of despondency. Thereafter they are fairly frequent. For nearly a month before the end, the despondency is almost unrelieved. Although he kept the knowledge to himself, it seems evident that Capt. Scott knew that all were doomed.

Last letter to wife.

Dr. Atkinson's report concludes: "I had a final farewell to the resting place of the three heroes, there alone in their greatness. They will lie without change or bodily decay, with the most fitting tomb in the world above them."

In addition to his diary, when dying, Capt. Scott wrote letters to friends and relatives. An extract from his last letter to his wife is:

"Make our boy interested in natural history if you can. It is better than games. Keep him in the open air. Above all, you must guard him against loneliness. Make him a strenuous man. The great God has called me. Take comfort in that I die in peace with the world and myself, and not afraid."

The camp at which Oates crawled out of the tent to die, and at which Scott later met death, was but 11 miles from the last camp, where provisions ("One Two Three") were provisions shelter and safety waited. Though they had made more than 700 miles from the pole to this point, they were unable to move the last 11 miles, and died with snow that distance away.

A Radical Dispersal of "Dropped Pattern" Lots of Standard-Make Floor-Coverings

At Savings Which Will Stir the Entire Rug-Buying Community

Twice each year, all manufacturers of Rugs and Carpets, discontinue the use of many of the patterns in their respective lines.

We have gone through our stocks and taken every one of these patterns which are to be discontinued, and will dispose of them in this Friday sale at prices which will stir to immediate action every individual who has the slightest need for new rugs. We inaugurate this radical clearance to enable us to show a variety of many patterns in each size.

CROWN IN CLOSING
BARELY MENTIONS
ACCUSED KIEV JEWProsecutor's Final Argument Is Ritual Murder Discussion; Defendant Being Ignored.

KIEV, Russia, Nov. 6.—The name of Mendel Bellis, the man on trial for the alleged murder of the Christian boy, Andrew Yushinsky, in March, 1911, was barely mentioned in the closing speech of counsel for the prosecution today. This was remarked by those present in court, as the same thing happened when counsel delivered his opening speech on the indictment.

Toward the end of his address, however, the prosecutor expressed his profound conviction that Bellis was guilty and remarked that the accused had been seen dragging young Yushinsky toward the brick furnace where Bellis was employed. He added:

"Mendel Bellis possibly was an excellent father and a virtuous man who lived modestly and was certainly religious, but does this preclude the possibility of the perpetration by him of a crime which from his standpoint was not crime? He regards himself as an expository victim of his coreligionists."

Counsel for the prosecution then dwelt on the subject of the clay found on young Yushinsky's clothing, which, he said, resembled that of the soil near the stable where the prosecution believes the murder was committed and where Mrs. Bellis went to live after the arrest of her husband. The stable was whitewashed before the visit of Krasovsky, the detective, and was turned down three days before the arrival of the Magistrate in charge of the preliminary investigation.

A verdict is expected Saturday. It is believed that the jury will acquit Bellis, but leave the motive for the murder and the nature thereof unexplained; with the ritual theory still open to discussion.

Counsel for the prosecution argued that the only medical and mental expert testimony worthy of credence was that brought forward by the prosecution. He especially praised Prof. Siborski, who, he said, "notwithstanding illness and his knowledge of the storm which would burst upon him, had not feared to come in court and testify that the crime had been committed by Jewish fanatics with the object of obtaining blood."

Jew Accused of Ritual Murder Plans

Tour of United States.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—In the event of his acquittal, Mendel Bellis, the Jew on trial in the Russian city of Kiev, charged with the murder of a Christian boy for ritualistic purposes, will be brought to this country in connection with a plan of wealthy Hebrews in America against the treatment to Bellis and other Jews. With him also will come his chief attorney, M. Grousenburg. Both will tour the country.

M. Grousenburg will lecture in the interest of the Jews, telling of the persecution of Bellis and the motives behind it. He will have Bellis on the platform with him. While the latter is a bricklayer, uneducated and untrained, he may say a few words about his experience.

In the event of the conviction of Bellis it is expected that there will be all the more demand for M. Grousenburg to visit this country. It is probable that the plan now being developed would be enlarged and that the protest to the Russian Government would be all the more emphatic.

Home-making is always a success where "Buck's" Stoves and Ranges are used.

WANTS TO APPEAL $4
SUIT WON BY STUDENTSFormer Washington U. Man
Dissatisfied With Verdict
Against Him.

The eight Washington University students who won a verdict for a fellow-student, Grady Gafford, in the suit for $4 filed against him in Clayton by a former student, Thomas B. Waters of Linn Creek, Mo., may have a chance to try their legal abilities further.

Waters, who is practicing law in Camden County, has written to Justice Werremeyer that he intends to appeal the decision to the Circuit Court, and as much higher as may be necessary in order to get his $4 and Werremeyer's court costs, which have not thus far been paid. He promises to visit Werremeyer as soon as he can dispose of 20 criminal cases which he says he now has on hand, including, he states, two murder cases.

Waters' $4 claim represented his valuation of an electric pressing iron which he sold to Gafford. The buyer, when he appeared in Werremeyer's court Oct. 30, pleaded that the iron was "no good" and was directed by the Justice to send it back to Waters by parcel post. Waters does not say, in his letter, whether he received the iron.

The Right
a Cigarette

I. In fingers of left hand, hold cigarette paper curved, so as to receive the tobacco. Four right quantity of "Bull" Durham out of muslin sack with right hand, strewing tobacco evenly in paper.

II. Then place your two thumbs next to each other in the middle of the paper in this position.

III. And roll the cigarette on the lower fingers, so that the index fingers move up and the thumbs move down. With the thumbs, gently but firmly force the edge of the paper over the tobacco, and

IV. Shape the cigarette by rolling it with the thumbs, as you draw them apart.

V. Hold the cigarette in your right hand, and

VI. Moisten the projecting edge of the paper.

VII. With fingers close ends of cigarette by twisting the paper, and you have a cigarette properly made, properly shaped and ready to smoke.

VIII. This is NOT the way to make a cigarette. The thumbs—not the index fingers should be used.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless. Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.—ADV.

MAGAZINE ARTICLE ON WILSON TELLS HOW SELPH WON

Saturday Evening Post Writer Says President Urged Reed to "Name Any Other Man."

SENATOR WAS IMMOVABLE

Executive Without Seeking to Soften Opposition to Currency Bill Finally Agreed.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 6.—The inside story of how Colly M. Selph was appointed Postmaster for St. Louis is told in the Saturday Evening Post, published today.

The interesting incidents leading to Senator Reed's victory for his candidate is told in an article by Samuel G. Blythe, called "Wilson in Washington."

Blythe calls the President a politician in the broad sense, but says he is not "a political politician." He continues: "Many times he might have played politics to advantage in the way of securing congressional support and did not play politics; a few times he essayed the game with unsatisfactory results. One story will illustrate: Senator Reed of Missouri is the kind of lawyer who will not admit anything. He will not admit the day is Friday even if it is Friday, but forces legal proof of the contention. Also, he has been more or less opposed to the Wilson policies and especially to the Wilson currency ideas. Reed has been outspoken on that subject; actively and vehemently against the President. Reed had a candidate for Postmaster of St. Louis. The leading Democrats of St. Louis opposed Reed's man. Moreover, Reed in the re-convention campaign was vociferously against Wilson. The President sent for Reed when this postoffice fight was on and told him he could not appoint his candidate.

"Name any other man," said the President, "and I will appoint him." "Mr. President," Reed replied, "I cannot name another man. The reason they are opposing this man is that he is my friend. That is the only reason. He is opposed because of his loyalty to me. I have eaten at his home, accepted his hospitality and known him for years. His wife and my wife are close and dear friends. We have much in common. All well and good; but I cannot recommend another. He stood by me and I shall stand by him. That is all I have to say." The President put out his hand to Reed. "I'll appoint him," he said—and he did.

What I want to make clear is that the ordinary political President would have appointed the man, but he would have asked for some concession from Reed for the appointment. He would have suggested to Reed that if Reed quit his opposition to the man, would be named, would have made a bargain. Our extraordinary political President did nothing of the kind. He named the man and Reed still kept along in opposition to his policies—which also goes to show that Mr. Wilson has a large supply of brains. He did not force an obligation, but he created one just the same, and left the ultimate results to time.

The article as a whole is highly eulogistic of the President, without contending that he had not made mistakes, or that he will not make more. President Wilson dominates members of Congress and his party because he knows more than they do, the writer contends.

He says it will be "Wilson's administration," with Wilson gladly accepting all the rewards and punishment. His control, says Blythe, is by reason of his intellectuality.

NURSE LEAPS INTO BAY; SAVES IMMIGRANT GIRL

Young Woman Who Escaped Volturno Disaster Goes Insane at Ellis Island.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Martha Novick, an immigrant girl, escaped the terrors of the burning Volturno only to fall ill and become temporarily insane in the Ellis Island hospital, where she eluded her nurses and flung herself into New York Bay. The heroism of a nurse, Miss Anna Olsen, who plunged into the water after the insane woman and after a hard fight brought her safely to a dock where both were saved, was made the subject of an investigation by Surgeon-General Blue of the Public Health Service with a recommendation that Miss Olsen's bravery be rewarded by a substantial increase in pay.

GIRL, 14, DEAD OF BURNS

Dress Caught Fire When She Was Ironing.

Helen Burke, 14-year-old daughter of Morris Burke of 2734 Converse avenue, East St. Louis, died early Thursday at St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis, from burns received Wednesday afternoon when her clothes caught fire while she was ironing a dress at her home. The girl returned home from school in the afternoon and put two irons on a coal range. The fire door of the range was open. As she bent over for one of the irons her apron caught fire. She ran outside and neighbors extinguished the flames by rolling her on the ground. The other members of the family were not at home.

SHOTTON CAN'T JUMP

Report He'd Join Outlaws Precluded by Signature to a 1914 Contract.

By Clarence F. Lloyd.

President Hedges of the Browns, during his 13-hour stay in St. Louis, failed to show any alarm when told that the Federal League planned a seizure of more of its ballplayers next season. The hint that Bert Shotton, Sam Agnew, Walter Levens and George Baumgardner might be missing from the Sportsman's Park roster next summer did not throw the Browns' owner into any fit of excitement. "I'll have to admit that the Browns without Shotton, Agnew, Levens and Baumgardner would present a mighty crippled front," said President Hedges to the Post-Dispatch. "but we haven't lost them so far as I know, and I'll wager that these men will be with us when the curtain goes up next spring."

The fact that the Federal League has decided to tamper with no ballplayers who are signed to a contract for 1914 eliminates Shotton from the list. He is signed. So far as the others are concerned, I am not worried. "I'll take more than promises to win them over. The present-day players think too much of their future to sacrifice a career in organized baseball for one of no assured length in a league like the Federal probably will be."

Hedges stopped in St. Louis on his way from Galveston, Tex., to Chicago, where he will attend the American League meeting, scheduled Thursday.

According to Hedges, he was unable to say what attitude, if any, the American League would assume towards the Federal League. He ventured the opinion that some discussion would be made of the new organization.

Was Not Called In.

Hedges said that any rumor that the signing of the Federal League and caused him to jump from the Gulf of Mexico to Chicago to attend the American League meeting or that he had been called in by the power behind the throne was without foundation.

He said that at the time that he planned his automobile trip, there had been no intimation that the American League magnates would rather before their accustomed time in the middle of December. He planned on being away until Dec. 1.

On the day that he departed from St. Louis, however, he received notice of the early meeting of the A. L. magnates. At that time it was too late to cancel his trip, so he decided to start and come in from whatever point he happened to be in time to join his colleagues in Chicago.

Conflicting reports came out of Chicago regarding the schedule of business to come up before the A. L. club owners. One was that the magnates would discuss the demands of the Players' Fraternity and the Federal League. Another was that neither of these topics would occupy any great length of time of the club owners. Suffice it to say that whatever announcement that may follow, the Federal League has the high odds of winning and will come in for no little consideration.

Waiting Time Is Named.

According to an announcement by President Johnson of the American League, the season in the two major leagues will commence April 14, next.

This is a bit later than the 1912 opening. The finale is looked about Oct. 5, making the season in the world's series ring up about the usual time. As many as possible open dates have been scheduled from the 1912 calendar, according to Johnson.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Jack Johnson Unseated.

ALL white hopes having failed and Father Time having mangled on the job, the dethroning of the dark pugilistic dynasty, headed for several years by Jack Johnson, has been taken in hand by an unknown.

The said unknown styles itself the International Boxing Union. It assembled in Paris, France, Wednesday, delegates from the United States being present as well as from France, Belgium, Switzerland, and probably Somaliland and other well-known centers of pugilism. The English branch of the organization also approved the decision handed down after the meeting of delegates, and the heavyweight championship title was vacant.

Ruling Means Little.

THERE are things more vacant than the title mentioned. For example, the brain cells of the naive gentlemen who undertake to designate themselves power to act for the world, without giving the public a chance to say a word. The pugilistic vacancy will continue until some promoter sees a chance to snatch a few chestnuts from the burning. "I'll have to admit that the Browns without Shotton, Agnew, Levens and Baumgardner would present a mighty crippled front," said President Hedges to the Post-Dispatch. "but we haven't lost them so far as I know, and I'll wager that these men will be with us when the curtain goes up next spring."

HARRY TRENDALL GETS DATE WITH M'FARLAND HERE

"Pride of the Patch" Will Let Packey Come in at Catch Weights December 4.

Packey McFarland, Chicago's premier boxer, and Harry Trendall, the "Pride of the Patch," have been matched to box before the National A. C. in the Coliseum Building, Dec. 4. The announcement of the match was made Thursday by Manager Frank Bishop of the National A. C., who returned from Chicago, where he procured McFarland's signature to articles of agreement Wednesday.

Bishop had hopes of signing McFarland with Freddie Welsh, the English lightweight champion, for Nov. 20. Weight and financial differences, however, prevented the clinching of this match.

Trendall has taken on quite a bit of weight during his recent idleness and for that reason consented to let McFarland come at catch weights. That means that neither will weigh in before the bout. According to Bishop, McFarland weighed about 138 pounds Wednesday.

After Mars and McGovern.

The scheduling of the McFarland-Trendall bout for Dec. 4 leaves the National A. C. without a bout Nov. 20, the only other available date for the building. Bishop said that he would make an effort to put on Benny McGovern of St. Louis and "Knockout" Mars, the Cincinnati featherweight, on that date.

Mars is the boxer who has beaten and owns a draw with McGovern.

Why Order Hedges Back?

"NO business except the ROUTINE" is expected to transpire at the Chicago meeting of the American League. That hardly fits in with the positive orders issued to Robert Leo Hedges to turn back from his pleasure trip through the West and show up at Chicago, entailing a journey of some 100 or more miles.

The American League wants to maintain an offhand attitude toward the Federal League. But an ear at the keyhole of the Windy City meeting would probably hear some interesting battle plans discussed.

The Feds may not be able to whip the majors, but as candidates for the harrassing championship they outclass the vacation chigger.

No, Merely Shouting.

"WERE NOT talking for publication" is the opening phrase of a column interview with a Federal League magnate about Federal League plans.

Death Clears Gotch's Title.

FRANK GOTCH is breathing much more freely, of late. Since the report reached Chicago that Yuself Mahmut was snuffed out during the Bulgarian War, the world's catch-as-catch-can champion can sleep at night without worrying as to how much longer he can stall off the big Bulgarian by hitting him at a fat salary to meet all challenges.

If Mahmut is really dead, the world has lost probably the greatest of all wrestlers, not even Gotch excepted. It was practically the unanimous opinion of the stars who assembled two years ago at Chicago to see the Gotch-Hackenschmidt fiasco that Mahmut could defeat Gotch. With Gotch at the slipping point, while Mahmut improved, the title ultimately would have gone to the Bulgarian.

H, and the fate of Marty Rowan! The wallows never missed him! And when Rivoire once had him gold! The villain up and kissed him.

With right and left he drove him back! With upercuts he stormed him! But ere he dealt the fatal smack! He should have chloroformed him.

The Princeton Tigers will wear numbers in their game against Harvard next Saturday. Numbers are not very good for tigers. The Tammany Tiger had his taken in broad daylight, last Tuesday.

Alfredo De Oro believes in having two strings to his bow. There is hardly one that he is not either three-cushion billiard champion or pool champion, or both.

The American League will not discuss the Federal League and the demands of the ballplayers' fraternity at their meeting in Chicago, today. Oh, no, they will take more important subjects, such as: Carpet tacks, the crop of flax, What South down mutton brings; The price of hay and Schedule K And cabbage and kings.

Harvard Legitimate Choice to Whip Tigers, Saturday

Wonderful Attack and Superior Individual Make-Up Combine to Give Crimson Eleven an Edge in Coming Football Struggle.

By Herbert Reed.

THE Post-Dispatch's Eastern Football Representative, NEW YORK, Nov. 6.

HARVARD will meet Princeton on Saturday a pronounced favorite over the orange and black. The leaning toward Harvard is built around the certainty that the Crimson is able to boast of an attack that is in the forefront of Eastern methods and that the kicking game, even without the service of a man like Pelton, will be used to the limit of its efficiency.

The Harvard line is far from invulnerable and the Crimson will meet in Ballin and Phillips tackles who are rich in experience and who are much stronger on attack than defense. Harvard's attack is a clever sifting up of the tactics, a series of plays that coaxes them out and a series of plays that coaxes them in.

In either case the Crimson attack is well fortified against anything but superior personnel.

The whole system of Harvard offense is built on lines much more sound than those affected by the Princeton coaching system and there is in the Harvard "square" formation the essence of delay that endures just long enough to add the maximum of deception to the maximum of power.

The Harvard offense, even without the wonderful backs that have appeared at Cambridge from time to time, is almost ideal. The plays are formed quickly, from a square close behind the line of scrimmage; there is the added efficiency to be gained by having a back take a lineman and with the material now at hand there is a chance to work out interference in a manner hardly more than barely attempted by any other eleven.

Probably neither eleven has been thoroughly extended—probably neither has been compelled to show the best football it has up its sleeve. The fact remains, however, that the Crimson has taken its games as it found them, has adhered closely to a standard of generalship and has been lacking in only one thing—the presence of capable substitutes for the first-string men. This is the Harvard weakness and, under the rules, no small weakness.

When one comes down to consideration of individuals, the mere names of the Harvard backfield men, especially since Logan has shown signs of making good in the quarterback position, are fairly terrific.

The Crimson backfield is made up of a happy combination of runners and kickers. It makes no sense to consider the Harvard backfield men, especially since Logan has shown signs of making good in the quarterback position, are fairly terrific.

Gov. Tener May Succeed Lynch as Boss of N. L.

However, Schuyler Britton Has Heard Nothing of Proposed Presidential Change.

A dispatch from New York stating that Gov. John K. Tener of Pennsylvania, a former National League ball player, is being groomed to succeed Tom Lynch as chief executive of the National League, caused no excitement in the Cardinal club's headquarters Thursday.

President Schuyler Britton says he has heard nothing of the arrangements with Tener but added that he was not prepared to discuss the presidential situation just now.

"Tener undoubtedly would be a big man for the National League," said Britton. "He has the executive ability, founded on past experience as a ballplayer. However, I'm not ready to talk on this proposition."
